East Kalimantan, Indonesia

Oct 23*-Nov 4, 2020

The Derawan Islands (Kepulauan Derawan) are in the province of East Kalimantan in Indonesia. They include Derawan, Sangalaki, Kakaban, Maratua, Panjang and Samama Island and submerged reefs and islets. They are located in the Sulawesi (Celebes) Sea, on the coastal shelf of East Kalimantan. Located in a biodiversity hotspot off the coast of Borneo, the Derawan Islands are part of the coral triangle and feature 872 species of reef fishes, 507 species of coral, and invertebrates, including protected species (5 giants clam species, 2 sea turtles, coconut crab, etc). Some of the islands have the largest green turtle nesting sites in Indonesia.

Derawan Dive Lodge is a small dive resort located on Derawan Island. Derawan's outstanding location offers you the chance to see mantas, a lake of non-stinging jellyfish and schooling barracuda. "The Channel" or "Big Fish Country" dive sites, with a little bit of luck and the right timing, you will be able to see barracuda tornados, grey reef sharks and eagle rays. Macro fans will enjoy finding pygmy seahorses, blue-ring octopus and frogfish. Really, the best of both worlds.
